Operacaffe serves up authentic Italian cuisine.

The lively area is great for people-watching, dining and entertainment at almost any hour of the day or night. For dinner, stroll a few short blocks north—past the comedy club and dueling piano bar—to Operacaffe, an authentic Italian eatery serving decadent dishes like homemade ravioli stuffed with spinach and ricotta cheese in a light pink sauce with lobster meat and artichokes. Owner Patrizia Branchi ran a family restaurant in Florence, Italy, before coming to California, where her latest establishment serves those same Tuscan dishes. The menu spans the spectrum from flavorful carpaccio and bruschetta to salad, pizza, pasta and entrees like chicken Parmesan and wild salmon in white wine sauce as well as tempting desserts from tiramisu to limoncello cake.
